"From Dissertation to Book--Reel Inequality: Hollywood Actors and Racism"

Thursday, May 11, 2017

Black Forum—153 Haines Hall
NOON—1:30 PM

"In this workshop, I share the journey of how I turned my dissertation into a general audience book. In breaking down the writing and publication process, I go over parts of the book and can field questions about the topic." Nancy Wang Yuen is the author of Reel Inequality: Hollywood Actors and Racism (Rutgers University Press, 2016), the first book to examine the barriers actors of color face in Hollywood and how they creatively challenge stereotypes. Dr. Yuen is an expert on race and media, regularly contributing to the Huffington Post. She pioneered the first study of Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders on television and is currently conducting a 10-year follow-up study.

This workshop is co-partnered with the UCLA Department of Sociology.

The event is free. All-day parking ($12) and short-term parking are available; visit the Parking and Information kiosk on Hilgard and Westholme for more information. UCLA is a smoke-free and tobacco-free campus.
